

Dear Interns,

Increasing number of cyber threats reflect the increasing importance of cybersecurity – an issue that has only become more important with the rise of remote work amid the COVID-19 pandemic. As we are approaching towards the end of the workshop, we hope that you all must have learned and benefited from all the sessions of GPCSSI 2021 and have found them to be very informative and valuable. It's clear that the weakest link in cyber security is the human factor, and if we are unable to make an informed and educated decision about something as simple as what network to connect to or which email attachment to open, we're at risk of a potentially devastating cyber-attack. It's our responsibility to create a cyber-risk-aware country to make a better, safe and secure tomorrow.
